

Marriage in the Consulate

Question:

I am a citizen of the Russian Federation. My future spouse is a citizen of Russia, who received Cypriot citizenship several years ago. If we conclude our marriage at the Consulate of the Russian Federation in the Republic of Cyprus, will it be recognized as valid? 02/20/2015

Response:

Yes, of course, a marriage concluded in the Consulate of the Russian Federation in the Republic of Cyprus is valid. After this procedure your spouse has to translate a document duly to Greek or English and submit it to the immigration authorities for the registration of your residence permit in the Republic of Cyprus.
